

Employee Type: Temporary Intern

Job Type: Mechanical Engineering Intern

Industry: Electrotechnical Specialist Manufacturer

Education: Some College

REMA USA, LLC (REMA) a privately held, global company with operations in Germany, China and the USA whose primary business is manufacturing, assembly and distribution of specialty electrical components, is currently seeking qualified candidates for the position of Mechanical Engineering Intern for the operation in Greenville, SC.

Description:

This is a great position for a team player studying in the field of mechanical engineering and design. As an integral member of the product design team, you will work under the supervision of lead mechanical engineers and engineering management. Daily responsibilities include assisting in research and development product design for, understanding product requirements and associated industry standards, assisting in engineering schedules and activities, and performing special projects and activities as assigned.

Qualifications:

- Strong mechanical aptitude
- Basic understanding of solid modeling, structural design, mechanical drawings, and fabrication and assembly processes; familiarity with AutoCAD a plus
- Team player willing to take direction and seek advice
- Contribute to project teams
- Excellent verbal and written communications
- Proficient with Microsoft Office (Outlook, Excel, Word, PowerPoint)

Please submit resume to info@remagroup.com.